

MCCNE trip to Halderman Barn Museum
Tuesday, June 27, 2017

I have pieced together a trip to the Halderman Barn Museum in Tipp City, Ohio. Any Mustang fan would not only be thrilled to get an exclusive look inside the “man cave” of Gale Halderman, but also to get the chance to meet and talk with him is a dream come true! As the primary designer of the original Mustang, Halderman is a true Mustang celebrity and this could be your chance to meet him.

The trip would take 4 days. The proposed itinerary is as follows:

Day 1, Sunday, June 25, 2017: We can meet at the rest area on I-84 West just beyond the Route 20 interchange in Sturbridge, Massachusetts at 12:00PM to start our journey to Ohio. I have mapped a route via I-84 West to CT-15 South, to I-287 in New York, to I-81 South in Pennsylvania. We then take I-80 South to US-11 South, where our hotel awaits in Carlisle, Pennsylvania. It should take us 5 – 6 hours to get to the hotel from the Rest Area in Connecticut. I will research places to stop for stretching, eating and resting, so the 5 - 6 hours may be more like 7 – 8.

Day 2, Monday, June 26, 2017: We awake and have breakfast at the hotel in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, and get on the road to Englewood, Ohio. The route takes us along I-76 West, to I-70 West into Ohio where our hotel awaits in Englewood, Ohio. It should take us 6 – 7 hours to get to the hotel in Englewood, Ohio from the hotel in Carlisle, Pennsylvania. I will research places to stop for stretching, eating and resting, so the 6 – 7 hours may be more like 8 – 10.

Day 3, Tuesday, June 27, 2017: We awake and have breakfast at the hotel, and get on the road the Halderman Barn Museum in Tipp City, Ohio. The museum is only 15 – 20 minutes from the hotel. Once at the Halderman Barn Museum, Gale Halderman gives us a private tour. We get to meet the man who was the primary designer of the original Mustang. I am thinking we are there for 4 hours. After the tour, and some questions and answers, we take I-70 East into Pennsylvania to US-30 West in Breezewood, Pennsylvania where we spend the night. It should take us 5 – 6 hours to get to the hotel from the Halderman Barn Museum. I will research places to stop for stretching, eating and resting, so the 5 - 6 hours may be more like 7 – 8.

Day 4, Wednesday, June 28, 2017: We awake and have breakfast at the hotel, and get on the road back home to New England. We take I-70 East to I-76 East, to I-81 North, to I-78 East, to I-287 North, to CT-15 North, and, if people want, we could stop in Portland, Connecticut at Chasing Classic Cars' Wayne Carini's F40 Motorsport car dealership and shop. It should take us 5 – 6 hours to get to F40 Motorsports from the hotel in Breezewood, Pennsylvania. I will research places to stop for stretching, eating and resting, so the 5 - 6 hours may be more like 7 – 8. I could contact him ahead of time so he will be expecting a parade of Mustangs sometime in the afternoon. After the stop at F40 Motorsports, we make our way to I-84 East, and go our separate ways.
